

Handwritten text in an ancient script, likely Tamil, inscribed on a palm leaf. The text is arranged in approximately 10 horizontal lines across the length of the leaf. Two circular holes are visible, used for threading a cord to bind multiple leaves together. The script is finely etched into the surface of the dried leaf.

Handwritten text at the top of the page, possibly a title or header, written in a cursive script.

Handwritten text in the main body of the page, consisting of several lines of script. The text is written in a cursive style and appears to be a continuous passage. There are two large circular holes visible in the paper, one on the left and one on the right, which may be remnants of binding or damage.

Handwritten text in a script, likely Tamil, on the left side of the palm leaf. The text is arranged in several lines, though some are partially obscured by the binding holes.

Handwritten text in a script, likely Tamil, on the right side of the palm leaf. This section contains the main body of the inscription, spanning multiple lines and separated from the left by a binding hole.

Handwritten text in a script, likely Tamil, on the far right side of the palm leaf. This section appears to be a continuation or a separate part of the inscription, located to the right of the main body of text.
